

Hope Color Gets More National Publicity

In Publishers' Auxiliary, Reaching Every Daily and Weekly Newspaper in United States and Canada

Plant • Printing • Production

ALEX WASHBURN (seated), editor and publisher of the Hope (Ark.) Star, puts his 30 years of experience as newspaper cameraman and darkroom technician to work in operating the Berkey color separator.

With him are Gene Allen, cameraman and No. 2 pressman, and Billy Dan Jones, mechanical superintendent and head pressman.

The Star, a 3,285-circulation afternoon daily, has won national acclaim for its four-color process made with its Berkey, the second to be put into use by a newspaper in the United States (the first was a 4x5-inch machine for the Des Moines (Iowa) Register and Tribune).

Berkey Plans Center

WOODSIDE, N.Y.—A direct screen training seminar center, for instruction in theory and application of direct screening and operation, has been established by Berkey Technical Corp at its headquarters here.

"With the tremendous acceptance of the Berkey Direct Screen Color Separation System by the graphic arts industry, and especially newspapers, for production of consistent, fast, inexpensive, high-quality screened color separations," says Herbert A. Hollander, vice president in charge of sales for Berkey, "this unusual service will be available to groups or individuals."

Staffed by Arve Jensen, co-inventor of the Berkey System and currently its product manager, and Michael Dillon, seminar training sessions may cover a single day or several days.

"We feel that purchasers of the Berkey System, graphic arts and newspaper engraving department personnel and persons interested in training and indoctrination in the use of the Berkey System will benefit from the seminars," Jensen says.

• Use of training aids and blackboard illustrations will be the preliminary steps to each student making his own set of screened color separation negatives from a color transparency.

• He then will follow this through the automatic development of his exposures to making a set of color-key proofs.

• The completed work then will be given a critique and evaluation by the seminar faculty. Recent groups at the center here have included Chemco technical sales representatives, American Newspaper Publishers Assn. Research Institute, the Hearst Newspapers and many owners and technicians from graphic arts houses.

Arrangements for attending these seminar sessions may be made by contacting Arve Jensen at Berkey Technical Corp., 25-15 50th St., Woodside, N.Y.C. N.Y. 11377; phone is (212) 932-4040.

All Self Respecting Husband Gets Tired of These Remarks

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that husbands get tired of hearing:

"Remember Gerald, the fellow who wanted me to elope with him in college? I just heard he's been elected board chairman of the biggest bank in my home town."

"How is it that you can remember the score of every golf game you ever played, but can never remember my birthday?"

"You haven't been listening to a thing I said, have you? You have? All right, tell me — what did I say?"

"Daddy, can I have $5. The girls in our class are making up a party Saturday to go to an amusement park."

"All I can say is that if we can't afford a cleaning woman every once in a while, you're the one who is going to have to start waxing the kitchen floor and mopping the bathroom."

"Maybe if you'd just let me lift the gray in your hair it might help you get ahead at the office faster. I hear that most bosses now want their employees to look as young as possible."

"Don't bother to take off your shoes. Have you forgotten we're going to the PTA meeting? They have a real interesting speaker — I'm dying to hear. He's going to talk on, 'Child Education among the early Aztecs, and its implications in a Permissive Society.'"

"If I can get by on a tuna fish salad sandwich for lunch, why do you have to have two martinis, beef stew and an expensive dessert?"

"Don't tell me it's your wife you've been listening to on the phone for the last half hour, Jim? You must be really henpecked."

"Remember Ronald, the boy I told you about who used to carry my books home from high school? Well, I just heard he's been made the executive vice president of a big advertising firm."

"Agnes and Jack Jones are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary next week. He's surprising her with a trip to Bermuda. Where are you planning to take me on our 25th anniversary — to the movies?"

"Hi Pop. Can you give me $10? We're having a school dance, and I have to take a girl, and — well, you know how it is. The gang always goes somewhere to eat afterward."

"Don't you have any backbone at all? Tell him that if he won't pay you any more, you'll simply have to take another job. That big bully may scare you, but he doesn't frighten me one whit."

"All we have for dinner tonight is leftovers. If you don't want them, you can take me out to a restaurant. It shouldn't kill you to do that, should it?"

"I was dusting off the bookshelf this afternoon, and came across our wedding album. You know, Jim, you really weren't half-bad looking — then."

"Before you start telling me your troubles, let me tell you mine — the cat's had kittens again."

"Remember Charlie, the little boy who was so wild about me in kindergarten? I just heard he's running for governor next year. 'I wonder what it would feel like to be the first lady in a state mansion?'"

DODD CENSURE From Page One

panel said Dodd diverted to "his personal purposes" at least $116,083 in politically raised campaign and testimonial funds in the years 1961-65.

It also said that in this same period he collected travel expenses both from the Senate and private organizations for seven trips. It did not list the total amount involved in the double billing.

The proposed resolution of censure declared that in both respects Dodd's conduct was "contrary to accepted morals, derogates from the public trust expected of a senator, and tends to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute."

The committee also requested the Justice Department and Internal Revenue Service to look into various aspects of Dodd's activities to determine whether any possible violations of law were involved.

The report and the censure resolution were presented to the Senate by Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the six-member ethics panel, as Dodd looked on among only a handful of senators on the floor.

Dodd showed no emotion or loss of composure as Stennis spoke.

Shortly before Stennis rose in the Senate he went by Dodd's office and gave him a copy of the report. Stennis later told a reporter he felt he owed this gesture of courtesy to Dodd.

Complaints on Appearances of Rockefeller

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Several city officials and business leaders in Arkansas have expressed concern about experiencing difficulties in getting Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller to make personal appearances.

The expressions come on the heels of repeated comment by several state legislators that the tardiness to appointments and the inaccessibility of him at times caused one of the minor frictions between Rockefeller and the General Assembly.

From time to time, newsmen have waited on the governor for as much as 30 minutes to begin news conferences scheduled by the governor or his staff.

In the latest round, Mayor Billy Free of Dumas says Rockefeller was invited to a major plant dedication May 20 but that the date has now been moved back to June 24 and the governor still is not sure whether he can attend.

Mayor Adrian White of Pocatongo said he tried to get Rockefeller to attend the dedication of three plants in March but couldn't because the legislature was in session. He said he also could not get Lt. Gov. Maurice Britt as a substitute.

And in Little Rock, W. R. Stephens, board chairman of Arkansas Louisiana Gas, said he found it difficult to get Rockefeller to stop by his office when important business and industrial leaders were in town.

Stephens said former Gov. Orval Faubus "would drop almost anything at the Capitol to come by and shake hands with visiting business and industrial people as a matter of good public relations work."

An aide to Rockefeller, Marlon Burton, said some of the complaints were unjustified and some were politically tinged. He said the governor has given the affairs of state first priority and will continue to do so while trying to make himself accessible to all.

Burton said errors crept into the schedule when Rockefeller's office staff first went in. He said the staff was settling down now and the errors would be fewer.

Burton said the governor has appeared at or spoken before at least two meetings a day for most of the weeks he's been in office.

"It has been and will continue to be a tough schedule," Burton said. He said the governor will "accept as many invitations as possible where these don't take him away from his duties and responsibilities."

Plans to Hitch Ride to Vietnam

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Walter Voelker says he is going to hitch a ride to Vietnam to visit his serviceman son.

A retired Army captain, Voelker, 42, plans to catch rides aboard military planes.

"Because of my 21 years in the service," the former bomb disposal expert explained Tuesday, "I am entitled to fly on military planes. But I'm the last one to get on."

His son, Walter Jr., is a gunner on a helicopter stationed at Than Son Nhut near Saigon. If he can get as far as Saigon, Voelker said, "I'll walk the last 12 miles if I have to."

Voelker, now an appliance salesman, said he first mentioned the idea to his wife as a joke and she approved it. "If it hadn't been for her attitude I would not have pursued it."

Time Now Running Out on Death Row

EDITOR'S NOTE — After a four-year moratorium, San Quentin's death row has resumed its grim purpose. Now time is running out for six convicts whose execution date has been set. Here is a picture of life on the "Row" for them — and 54 more awaiting their fate.

By HAROLD V. STREETER
SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)

— Death is back from a long holiday at San Quentin, and for six men on death row an agonizing countdown has begun.

It is a countdown of the days left before they go to the gas chamber.

Daniel Roberts, who is in his 40s, expects his countdown to end May 9.

Five fellow convicts for whom the courts also have set execution dates have a little longer to live — one until June 24.

Fifty-four others have yet to be told when they will take the last walk.

Aaron Mitchell, executed April 12, was the first man to die in the California gas chamber since Jan. 23, 1963. In the intervening years, the population of death row piled up because of state and federal court actions and commutations by then Gov. Edmund G. Brown. Brown did not believe in capital punishment and granted clemency 22 times but denied it 35 times.

His successor, Gov. Ronald Reagan has ended the moratorium.

What is it like on death row? Roberts, who strangled his landlady in San Francisco, lives in a cell 11 feet long, 4½ feet wide and 7 feet high.

He has 44 neighbors on the sixth floor of condemned unit No. 1.

Roberts can see a patch of sky through a small window in a prison wall visible from the front of his cell.

Major Jane Ready for Next Job

By STELLA ROBERTS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Red-haired Maj. Jane E. McCullough is ready and eager for her next assignment, as the first uniformed woman in the U.S. Air Force to be stationed in Thailand.

Maj. McCullough, a native of Altoona, Pa., is no novice to foreign duty. In her 15 years in the Air Force, she has served three years in France and two in Turkey. Now she's packed — well, almost — and ready to leave for her Southeast Asia assignment next month.

"I have always wanted to go to Thailand," she said.

In fact, the major leaves the impression she is always eager for new assignments, anywhere the Air Force wants to send her.

She doesn't speak the Thai language — but then she didn't speak German or Turkish either, and says she had no problem communicating with the people of either country. Sign language works almost anywhere, she's found.

Maj. McCullough has been comptroller of the 443rd Military Airlift at Tinker Air Force Base here since 1962. In Thailand, she will serve in the same capacity with the 432nd Combat Support Group, at the Udorn Royal Thai Air Force Base in Northern Thailand.

Busy now "clearing" Tinker, Maj. McCullough plans to leave here about May 1 on a 10-day leave, which she hopes to spend with friends in Seattle, Wash. She will depart for Thailand May 12 from Travis AFB in California.

She's had a few surprises in her preparations for duty in Southeast Asia. She has to obtain a military driver's license, the first she's ever had, and quality as a "rifeman," although U.S. military personnel in Thailand do not carry weapons.

"I'd never fired a gun in my life," she said laughing. "but I

Coming, Going

Mrs. Jim Pruden visited with daughter, Janet, last weekend at the University of Kansas in Lawrence when the Alpha Omicron Pi sorority held its annual "Mothers' Weekend."

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wylie and Alan, Pine Bluff, will spend this weekend in Hope with Mr. and Mrs. Arch Wylie and Ruth Ann and the Birkett Wylie family.

Going to the state conference of the Junior American Legion Auxiliary in Little Rock Saturday will be Jeanne Pruden, Kathy Feld, Mary Nell Williams, and Mrs. Jim Pruden. Jeanne will perform her duties as state secretary, and Kathy will have a part on the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Evan Wray returned home from Little Rock this week, after Mr. Wray was hospitalized there for several weeks.

Mrs. Richard Harris, Wabash, Ind., will arrive Sunday to visit Mrs. Jim Pruden and to take part in next week's Ladies Golf Tournament.

Miss Jean Laseter of Hot Springs is spending a few days here with friends and relatives.

When she reported on her driver's test, expecting to check out in an ordinary car, she was told she was required to handle "anything up to 1½ tons." And she passed the first time, in a 1½-ton Air Force truck.

Perhaps her biggest problem is squeezing enough uniforms and other personal possessions to last out her year's assignment into a 100-pound weight limit on baggage. It isn't all packed, but she says: "I've made up my mind what I'm going to take and what I'm going to mail to myself."

It's a sure thing Maj. McCullough will be taking her camera along. She says about the nearest thing she has to a hobby is collecting color slides of the places she has visited.

Maj. McCullough joined the Air Force in 1952 after working for several years with the Census Bureau, the War Production Board and the Civil Aeronautics Administration in Washington. In addition to Tinker and her two previous overseas assignments, she has served at Fairchild AFB at Washington and McClellan AFB in California.

The daughter of an Altoona attorney, Maj. McCullough says she doesn't really know why she picked the Air Force as a career, but since the deaths of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. McCullough, the Air Force has become her family. She has found it a rewarding career, she says.

Experiment With LSD Is Tragic

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "When I see my face in the mirror, I see it turn into a thousand faces," said the handsome 19-year-old.

"He tried to poke out his eyes with his fingers," said his mother. "He tried to kill himself. It was as if there was something inside telling him this is what he was supposed to do."

The tall, husky youth was semiconscious and strapped to a bed when Superior Court Judge Allen Miller directed Tuesday that the teen-ager be committed to a state mental hospital. Hospital records said he couldn't stand the after-effects of his experiments with the drug LSD.

The bedside commitment was made at Los Angeles County General Hospital. His mother, a leader in Los Angeles social circles, told a newsmen what had led to her son's present state.

He took the initial injection in February, she said. In March he became ill with serum hepatitis (liver trouble) — apparently from an infected needle. The mother, a registered nurse, decided to care for him herself.

"Then one of his friends slipped him some more LSD," she related. "It was about two weeks ago. I could tell something was wrong. I decided to sleep next to him on another living room couch."

"I woke up and found him completely covered with blood. There was blood all over the floor. I saw a razor blade and realized what had happened. He had slit his arm inside the elbow."

She called an ambulance from the family's fashionable apartment in West Los Angeles.

The youth was taken to the nearby UCLA Medical Center, where the wound was sutured. "Mother," he asked, "why didn't you sleep another hour — and let me die?"

Fearing another suicide try, she had her son transferred to the psychiatric unit of the county hospital.

"He broke a glass, ripped his other arm and his throat," she said. "Then later, he took a pencil and tried to stab himself. Two orderlies grabbed him. But he broke loose and ran and tried to ram his head against a wall and break his neck."

"Then he tried to poke out his eyes with his fingers."

It was at Los Angeles County General Hospital on April 18 that Mark D. Sanders, a mental health counselor, interviewed the boy.

"He was strapped down, both eyes and his hands bandaged," Sanders recalled.

"When asked with whom he lived, he said he lived with God. 'He did not know how old he was and, when asked when he was born, he stated he was not born, he had been created.'"

"Asked if he had brothers and sisters, he said all the people in the world were his brothers and sisters."

Sanders said the youth then told of looking into a mirror and seeing a thousand reflections.

A medical examiner's report, which recommended institutionalization, said the youth was suffering from a schizoid reaction — split personality — "possibly LSD induced."

New School Pleasing to Hockey Player

By JEAN HELLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Nine months of the year, a boy named Scotty left his public housing project apartment in the morning and began thinking up reasons not to go to school. At least one day out of every four he found a reason.

Almost any excuse was good enough because Scotty hated school and hated it, he thought, was reason enough not to go.

But in the past two months, 16-year-old Scotty was absent only once, and then because he was sick.

A few days ago, he told his school officials he wanted to stay in school until he could graduate. "I don't have any reason to hate school any more," he said.

Why the change? Why did a boy from the low-income East New York section of Brooklyn change from a near-chronic truant into an eager learner almost overnight?

Officials at Scotty's school think they have the answer.

Scotty is one of 225 children who attend a new kind of school, one set up on the second floor of a building that also houses a carpet store. The school is a one-million-dollar project opened in February by the New York City Board of Education and the Office of Economic Op-

BETTER AS VISITOR THAN HUSBAND

Dear Helen: About two years ago my husband ran off to California with a married woman, after cleaning out all our finances. He came back three weeks later, begged for forgiveness, but said it was partially my fault because he wanted to buy a truck and I wouldn't let him, which made him depressed. At the psychological moment, he said, he ran into this woman at a bar. She was having husband troubles, so they decided to cry on each other's shoulders, all the way to California.

I took him back. But a year later I found out he had been seeing this same woman and had even bought her an expensive television set, while he only gave me a can opener for Christmas.

Again he was all apologies and claims he was just trying to play the big shot to impress her with how well he was doing. Well, this time I didn't let him come back.

It's been three months and he has in no way been mean or spiteful. In fact, he's nicer to me and the children than he's ever been. He comes down evenings and week-ends and does chores, provides money for our support, helps out with the shopping, takes the kids out. He takes all the blame for our troubles, but I wonder if he means it. I've watched him put on a beautiful act before, but never for three months straight. He can play the loving husband and be cheating right under my nose. Shall I take him back, or not take any more chances? It's rough raising three children alone, but I can't seem to churn up any trust or respect for him.—WAITING WIFE

Dear W.W.: When in doubt, wait. You're doing better than you have in years, what with an

Depends on the Point of View

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A shapely blonde plunged into a heated swimming pool to demonstrate a new paper bikini for the press and the worst happened — or the best, according to one's point of view.

The top part of the suit — guaranteed not to shrink, burn or disintegrate — floated away Thursday from 23-year-old Noel Steever of Bel Air, Md.

While she sought to reaffix it, a public relations man explained to gaping reporters, "It's not really a piece of athletic wear. It's not a thing to go swimming in, really."

Most of the reporters hardly heard him. They were watching "Miss Body Chemistry of 1967."

The unveiling was in conjunction with Chemical Progress Week.

Miss Steever later said the $4 swimsuit "could use some design changes. Perhaps if they put some holes in it the water would run through and it wouldn't come off."

Diploma Is the Only Thing New

DETROIT (AP) — David F. Engel is driving 275 miles this weekend to pick up his diploma at the University of Detroit.

But the diploma will be the only thing new about the trip. Engel, 23, has been making the 550-mile roundtrip between Detroit and Erie, Pa., each week for the past two years.

He started making the trip so he could get in some weekend courting with Mary Bauer, now Mrs. David F. Engel.

Since marriage he has continued the commuting to see his wife and work weekends as a milk truck driver for his father's dairy in Erie.

The school looks nearly normal. Except that the floors are carpeted. The teachers have no desks or chairs but sit on the floors with the children. The pupils' desks have chalk board tops and the children actually are encouraged to scribble on them.

And there is one very large room with a perimeter of wooden booths that house 20 talking typewriters, a friendly teaching machine that one of its proponents calls "a perfect mother."

It is around these machines that Scotty's school was designed.

attentive husband, a loving father for your children, chores all caught up, and even a bit of romantic wooing on the side. If all this continues three more months, I'd say your husband has learned his lesson and you can welcome back a MAN instead of an impetuous boy.—H.

Dear Helen: This is a letter of protest. Why must there be so much prejudice in California and Oregon against the "Okies, Arkies" and the "Tacky Texans."

I'm regarded as "tainted" because my grandparents have been in Oklahoma. What bothers me is that those who left the South long ago have buried their secret and now add to the propaganda against the Okies, etc. They make the most bad jokes of all.

People out West imagine all of MY people are illiterate, with the young girls already married and weighted down with shoeless children while they drag around in peasant dresses, barefooted. They're so wrong!

They forget it was Californians in their search for cheap farm labor who lured the Okies, Arkies and Texans out here during the depression. These Southerners were too proud to stay at home and take relief so they became the modern pioneers. That they were reduced to poverty often was due to their believing the other fellow was as honest as they were. They were sneered at, exploited, cheated and some still are. For a nation who learned to love Will Rogers, it's amazing what they think of people who come from his State.—GUILTY BY ASSOCIATION

Dear GBA: Aren't you a mite touchy? Some of my best friends are transplanted Okies, Arkies and Texans and they're proud of their titles.—H.

Dear Helen: I never dreamed my husband would do this. He has been taking money out of his pay. He cashes his money before he comes home and I never questioned the amount he said he makes because I trusted him. Then I found out what his pay is. Last week he took out $20.

I thought it was funny he hadn't got a pay raise for over a year, and this is why.

I work too and we pool our money for bills, savings, etc. I thought I knew where everything went. He's always been so good about accounting for everything.

But last week I found a whole wad of bills in his dresser drawer. Is this any way to treat me after 10 years of marriage?—ELLIE

P.S. Should I take the money and put it in our savings account?

Dear Ellie: . . . And do yourself out of a lovely "surprise" birthday or Christmas present?

For heaven's sake where's your trust? If a man has been an honest, dependable, straight-shooting husband for 10 years, he deserves a wife who is aware of it.—H.

Ex-Fielder Gives Giants Three Hits

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Mel Queen was such a poor hitter as an outfielder he turned to pitching, and now he is passing on his meager batting average to others.
The right-handed Cincinnati hurler has taken particular interest in San Francisco with his gift-giving treatment that has turned the slugging Giants into hitless pigmales.
Queen stumped the Giants on three hits and one run for seven innings Thursday as the Reds won 3-2 and retook first place in the National League from the St. Louis Cardinals.
The Cardinals fell back when Houston scored five runs in the seventh inning and held on for a 6-4 triumph, breaking a 10-game losing streak.
Elsewhere in the National League, Claude Osteen pitched Los Angeles past Atlanta 6-0, Ferguson Jenkins of the Chicago Cubs halted the New York Mets 3-0 and Pittsburgh nudged Philadelphia 5-4.
Cleveland dropped Minneapolis 5-4 in the American League as pinch-hitter Willie Smith doubled home the winning run in the eighth inning. The Twins had rallied from a 4-4 deficit against Sam McDowell on Bob Allison's three-run homer and an RBI double by Rich Rollins.
California was rained out at Baltimore.
The 25-year-old Queen, who first passed on his bad hitting habits to the Giants by blanking them on six-hits 6-0 in his only other major league start April 16, got his message across to everyone but Willie McCovey. McCovey homered in the seventh.
Queen, now 30, left after walking the first man in the eighth, leading 3-1 on Deron Johnson's sixth homer with a man on off loser Gaylord Perry and Vada Pinson's run-scoring hit. Reliever Ted Abernathy finished the lesson.
Queen, a relief pitcher who only got into the starting rotation because Jim Maloney suffered shoulder trouble, came into the major leagues as an outfielder with a strong throwing arm three years ago.
His below .200 batting average did not set the Reds afire. So, he returned to the mound for the first time since high school.
"Almost any outfielder at times would like to be a pitcher, especially when he's not hitting," said Queen, whose father, Mel Queen, pitched for the New York Yankees and Pirates in the 1940s and 1950s. Queen relieved in seven games in 1966, but had only a 6.43 earned run average.
But he pitched last winter in Venezuela and learned "to throw like a pitcher and not an outfielder" and now he is pitching like a pitcher and the hitters are hitting like him.
Bob Gibson was lowering Houston averages for six innings before Joe Morgan, who earlier broke an 0 for 24 slump, cracked a three-run triple off reliever Hal Woodeshick after Gibson loaded the bases with none out in the seventh.
The Astros added two more runs in the inning for a 5-2 lead and then stopped a two-run Cardinal rally in the eighth.
Osteen, 3-1, allowed only two Braves past first base as he shortened some bats with a four-hitter supported by Ron Hunt's run-scoring single and three-run double. But the Dodgers lost Lou Johnson for 10 to 12 weeks when he fractured an ankle sliding home in the first inning.
Ferguson Jenkins leveled the New York Mets with a three-hitter and 10 strikeouts for his third victory without a defeat.

3 Porkers in Frankfurt Game

NEW YORK (AP) — Arkansas quarterback Jon Brittenum, defensive tackle Loyd Phillips and defensive halfback Martine Bercher have agreed to play in an all-star football game June 25 in Frankfurt, Germany.
The Associated Press learned Wednesday that the game would be played and that one team will represent the Army and the other the Air Force. The game apparently has the support of the Defense Department.

McDowell Gets Win for Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sam McDowell has his second victory of the season, but even with 12 strikeouts it took a big assist from Willie Smith for the fireballing southpaw to accomplish it.
Smith batted for McDowell in the eighth and his double drove in the run that broke a 4-4 tie to give the Cleveland Indians a 5-4 decision over the Minnesota Twins in the only action in the American League Thursday.
McDowell blanked the Twins on three hits and struck out 10 in the first five innings, while the Indians built up a 4-0 lead.
Then, in pitching coach Clay Bryant's opinion, "Sam tried to reach back for something extra and it almost cost him the game."
"The worst part of it," continued Bryant, "is that McDowell doesn't need anything extra. Sam has more than enough for anybody just throwing with his natural motion."
Bryant said it was the best he had seen McDowell, "at least it was until the sixth when he tried to reach for something extra."
McDowell retired the first two men in the sixth and then walked Andy Kosco and Harmon Killebrew. Then Bob Allison hit a home run over the left-field fence.
The Twins tied the score in the seventh on Cesar Tovar's single and a double by Rich Rollins.
Cleveland had jumped in front with a run in the second and three more in the fifth.
Smith's winning double scored Gus Gil, who also had doubled.
George Culver pitched the ninth inning for Cleveland.
McDowell said Allison hit his third homer of the season off a low fast ball.
"It was a good one and it was where I wanted it," said the 24-year-old lefty. "That's one I wouldn't take back if I could. You have to give him credit. It was my best pitch."
McDowell wasted no time on the mound and made a total of 128 pitches, but only 72 through the first five innings.
"I'm finding that as I pitch faster I concentrate more," he said. "I guess that was my best game so far this year, but I have to get better."
"I saw some of their hitters changing on me but I wasn't smart enough to go along with them. I should have known better and I will next time."
The other scheduled American League game, California at Baltimore, was rained out.
In the National League, Chicago beat New York 3-0, Cincinnati edged San Francisco 3-2, Pittsburgh nipped Philadelphia 5-4, Houston topped St. Louis 6-4 and Los Angeles blanked Atlanta 6-0.

Schwali Options to the Braves

ATLANTA (AP) — Pitcher Don Schwali has been optioned by the Braves to Richmond of the International League.
Schwali, obtained from Pittsburgh last year in a trade for Billy O'Dell, had appeared in only one game this season.

Okla. Coach McKenzie Dies at 37

By BILL LITTLE
Associated Press Sports Writer
NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Jim McKenzie, the man who came to the University of Oklahoma to rebuild it into a national football powerhouse, died of an apparent heart attack early today. He was 37.
McKenzie had returned Thursday night from a recruiting trip to Amarillo, Tex.
McKenzie collapsed at his home about 12:20 a.m. His daughter, Kathy, 12, summoned Galen Hall, an assistant coach, who lives across the street.
Hall gave him artificial respiration and ambulance attendants tried external heart massage, but he was pronounced dead on arrival at Norman Municipal Hospital by Dr. G.G. Willard, the family physician, at 12:50 a.m.
The death stunned the state. McKenzie had coached his Sooners through spring drills on Wednesday, and apparently hadn't been in ill health.
McKenzie, who helped build Arkansas into a national football power, came to Oklahoma in the spring of 1966.
He piloted his Sooners through four games unbeaten and had them ranked 10th in the nation before losing 38-0 to Notre Dame.
The team finished with a 6-4 record.
Oklahoma is in the midst of spring practice, with the annual varsity-alumni game scheduled for May 6.
McKenzie was born Jan. 15, 1930 in Gary, Ind. He was graduated from Kentucky University in 1953, and coached in high school and junior college ranks before moving into college circles as an assistant to Frank Broyles at Missouri in 1957.
McKenzie went with Broyles to Arkansas in 1958, and he was in charge of the Razorback defense, which became known as McKenzie's Raiders.
He took over the Sooners at their lowest ebb in years. In 1965, the once-powerful Oklahoma team was 3-7. He brought a faster, more wide-open game stressing quickness.
His greatest triumph came in early October, when Oklahoma whipped Texas for the first time since 1958, 18-9. With a fourth victory a week later, the Sooners headed unbeaten into the Notre Dame clash.
McKenzie is survived by his widow, Sue, daughter Kathy, and a son, James Alexander Jr.

Leading the Texas Open
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two pros without a tournament victory this year share the lead in the windswept $100,000 Texas Open.
Diminutive Puerto Rican Chi Chi Rodriguez and cigar-chewing Joe Campbell, ranked 56th and 59th respectively in PGA earnings this year, shot 68s to grab the first-round lead Thursday.
But a swarm of other pros, including sixth-ranked Bert Yancey, were on the heels of the leaders with 69s. Others at one stroke off the pace were Bert Weaver, Richard Crawford, Jay Hebert and Charles Coody. Nine pros shot one-under-par 70s and 14 were even par.
Campbell, the 1966 Tucson Open winner, said a stiff wind just reversed the course from the way it was played during warmup rounds. He said players were forced to use woods where irons were enough on Wednesday.
But the wind didn't affect Campbell's putting. The brawny Tansi, Tenn., pro dropped birdie putts of 20, 18, 8 and 5 feet and just missed a 35-foot eagle putt when he left it inches short. He tapped in for another birdie.
Rodriguez, one of the smallest men on the tour at 125 pounds, was a big man with short irons around the greens. He chipped to within two feet on the 13th hole and dropped it for a birdie. Two other birdies came after he chipped to within three feet. He also sank putts of 10 and 8 feet for two more sub-par holes.

Red-White Game Is Important

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — University of Arkansas Football Coach Frank Broyles admits tonight's Red-White game in Little Rock is far more important to him and his staff than previous intrasquad games.
The coaches must come up with answers to more questions than ever before. Only 13 lettermen will take part in the game.
Broyles isn't talking about depth this year, he's talking about two solid first units.
"The difference is we have pretty much known who our first teams were going to be and we have been trying to evaluate the personnel who were going to be alternates," said Broyles. "This year we're trying to evaluate the personnel who are going to be the first teams."
"We won't know exactly

Says Clay Will Never Go to Jail

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Sports Writer
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — "The champ will never go to jail," attorneys for Cassius Clay insisted today as they prepared to continue the legal battle for the heavyweight champion against the government's military draft.
"We plan to refile our suit immediately after Clay refuses induction," said Quinlan.
be at the tailback spot between Russell Cody of Russellville and Mike Hendren of Muskogee, Okla. Both have shown up well so far. Cody is a redshirt sophomore and Hendren is a natural soph. Hendren will start for the reds and Cody will start for the whites.
Glen Hockersmith, a junior-to-be from Benton, has been running as the No. 1 fullback. He'll compete for the whites while Richard Coleman of Holy Grove will start for the reds. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Hodges of Houston, one of Clay's two attorneys. "It may be a long, drawn-out procedure, but it's one we're confident we'll win."
"We're sure of a final victory," added Hayden Covington of New York. "Muhammad will never be put behind bars."
The heavyweight champion, known as Muhammad Ali to his Black Muslim brothers, reports today at the Customs House here for induction into the military service.
He emphasized that he would go through the physical and mental tests but would balk when asked to take one step forward, the symbol of entering the service.
"I will go to jail first — I will die for my religion," Clay said.
The champion lost a final effort Thursday to avoid criminal action resulting from his refusal to serve — an action punishable by a $10,000 fine, five years in prison, or both. Prison terms are the normal procedure.
Clay's attorneys sought a temporary restraining order in U.S. District Court but Judge Allen B. Hannay held he had no reason to tie the government's hands.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELEC- TION

Notice is hereby given that a special election will be held in Hempstead County, Arkansas on the 18th day of May, 1967, at which election there will be submitted to the electors the question of issuing Hempstead County, Arkansas General Obligation Industrial Development Bonds under the provisions of Amendment No.
49 to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas in the principal amount of not to exceed $210,000 (called "bonds") for the purpose of furnishing the permanent financing of the cost of developing industry. The bonds will be dated June 1, 1967, interest thereon will be payable June 1 and December 1 of each year, commencing December 1, 1967,
at a rate or rates to be hereafter determined, and the bonds will mature annually on June 1 in each of the years 1970 to 1987, inclusive, but will be call-able for payment prior to maturality upon such terms as shall be specified in the Order of the County Court authorizing their issuance. The particular industrial project will consist of acquiring land and constructing and equipping a manufacturing building (called "Project") to be leased to and operated by Hope Wire Products, Incorporated, an Arkansas corporation (Called "Hope Wire"). Hope Wire presently conducts manufacturing operations in the County which have developed to the point that arrangements have been made to establish an enlarged industrial operation in the County. If the electors approve the issuance of the bonds, the proceeds of the sale thereof will be used for the Project costs, expenses and expenditures incidental thereto and expenses incurred by the County in authorizing and issuing the bonds. The bonds will be general obligations of the County secured by a pledge of the full faith, credit, and taxing power of the County including particularly a one and one-half (1 1/2) mill special tax to be levied on the dollar of the assessed valuation of all taxable real and personal property in the County and to be collected, unless collection is suspended, annually until the principal of and interest on the bonds is paid in full or provision made therefor. In this regard, the County may apply the lease rentals and any other revenues derived from the Project to the payment of the principal of and interest on the bonds and provision will be made in the Order authorizing the issuance of the bonds for the suspension of the collection of the tax on an annual basis with the conditions of said suspension to be set forth in the authorizing Order; provided, however, the bonds will not be secured by a lien on or security interest in the Project and will not be secured by a lien on or a pledge of lease rentals or other Project revenues. The bonds will be sold at public sale as required by Amendment No. 49 and at the option of the County, may be sold with the privilege of conversion.
Only qualified electors of Hemp-stead County, Arkansas will have the right to vote and the electors may vote either for or against the bonds.
The election will be held between the hours of 8:00 o'clock a.m. and 7:30 o'clock p.m. at the following polling places in Hempstead County, Arkansas, to-

No Cause for Worry About
Kidney Stone Formation
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Is it true that some kidney stones do not show up in X-ray films even though they are large?
A—Stones that contain calcium oxalate or phosphate are radiopaque and will be seen on an X-ray film made without any special preparation. Uric acid and cystine stones are nonopaque and can be seen only if an opaque substance is introduced into the kidney pelvis to produce contrast.
Q—Will calcium pills taken daily to prevent leg cramps or bicarbonate of sodium cause kidney stones?
A—These drugs may favor the formation of stones in persons who are known stone formers only if the victim fails to keep his urine acid.
Q—What causes renal calculus? Is there a cure for it?
A—A renal calculus is a kidney stone. Although a persistently alkaline urine favors the formation of calcium phosphate stones, a persistently acid urine favors the formation of uric acid stones. There is, therefore, not much point in worrying about the reaction of your urine unless you are a known stone former. In most persons the reaction fluctuates between acid and alkaline. An infection often marks the beginning of stone formation. A vitamin A deficiency also favors this process.
Q—My niece, 17, has chronic glomerulonephritis. Is there any cure for it?
A—The longer a person has any chronic disease the harder it is to cure. No simple formula for cure can be recommended because each patient is different. A salt-poor diet, low in protein, may help one patient with this disease and harm another. Good results have been reported in some patients with the use of azathioprine (Imuran) and in others with the use of prednisone. Before any treatment is tried, however, a careful study of your niece by a kidney specialist should be made.

Q—What is fibromyositis? Is X ray used to make the diagnosis? What is the best treatment?
A—This is an inflammation of muscles and their associated fibrous tissues including tendons—in short, a form of muscular rheumatism. Neither muscles nor fibrous tissues are visible in X-ray films but such films are often useful in ruling out osteoarthritis and other diseases of the bones and joints. A short course of hydrocortisone should give relief. This must be followed by such measures as avoidance of exposure to cold or injury to prevent a recurrence.
Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Canadiens Has a Hex, and Luck

TORONTO (AP) — Montreal's Canadiens had the Thursday hex and a little bit of luck working for them in the fourth game of their Stanley Cup best-of-seven final series against Toronto.

Naturally, they won 6-2 and evened the series at two games apiece. The fifth game will be played at Montreal Saturday.

Jean Beliveau and Ralph Backstrom scored two goals apiece for the Canadiens, who started to get that good feeling before the game.

That was when word reached their dressing room that Johnny Bower, the Leafs' 42-year-old goalie, had pulled a thigh muscle in his left leg during the warmup and would not start.

"We heard in the dressing room that Bower had been injured," said Toe Blake, the Canadiens' coach. "He had been murdered to us in the last two games."

So, instead of Bower, the Canadiens faced Terry Sawchuk, who had starred in Toronto's semifinal series victory over Chicago. But never on Thursday.

The Leafs have dropped four games in playoffs — two against Chicago and two against Montreal — all of them on Thursday and all of them with Sawchuk in the nets.

The trend continued with Backstrom and Beliveau giving Montreal a 2-0 lead in the first period. Then, after Mike Walton hit for Toronto at 2:09 of the second period, Henri Richard retaliated just 17 seconds later for a 3-1 lead.

Tim Horton narrowed it to 3-2 before Backstrom and Beliveau hit again. Jim Roberts scored Montreal's final goal with less than five minutes left in the game.

Beliveau said, "This game should change the whole story of the series."

The Montreal captain's first goal came when he shot from beside and slightly behind Sawchuk, hoping the puck would glance off a Toronto player and into the net.

"Sure enough," Beliveau said, "it hit Sawchuk on the back of the leg and went in."

Backstrom's second goal struck the inside of the Toronto goal post and went in.

"Sometimes when you hit the post," he mused, "they bounce all the way back to the blue line, but this one went in."

Of course it did. It was Thursday.

Lake Placid Could Be the Olympics Site

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Los Angeles and Lake Placid, N.Y., may be the sites in 1968 of the first John F. Kennedy International Memorial Games, a proposed streamlined version of the Olympics to be held annually in the United States.

Plans for the mammoth athletic carnivals, to be held in the summer and winter, were announced by the Amateur Athletic Union Wednesday as part of a nationwide drive to build up a $10-million permanent fund for the development of U.S. athletes for national and international competition.

Col. Donald Hull, executive director of the AAU, said the first summer games were tentatively set for May 30, 1968 — a day after what would have been President Kennedy's 51st birthday — at Los Angeles, and the winter games for December 1968, probably at Lake Placid, N.Y.

Hull, however, said at a press conference, that other sites could be selected.

"The sites have not been definitely set," he said. "The national committee will take this glance off a Toronto player and into the net."

"Salt Lake City has expressed an interest in the winter games. New York, through Mayor Lindsay, or his spokesman, has expressed interest in the summer games."

"We probably will hold the games in different cities each year, but it's too early yet to

These Hot Springs horse-race pictures, made March 23, represent the first color production by The Star staff working alone on the Berkey color separator.

Alex. H. Washburn, Star editor and publisher, shot the 4x5 Ektachrome transparencies at the track and made the separation negatives on the 8x10 Berkey machine back home, with Billy Dan Jones, mechanical superintendent sitting in on the color run. They had trouble with this, their first operation — but after solving it got off three additional picture payouts which will be published later.

say."

The AAU said the central purpose of the International Sports Development Fund "is to give support to all amateur sports organizations in the United States and to promote expanded opportunities for international sports competition."

Top athletes of the world would be invited to come over for a week with competition for three or four days, starting on a Thursday. He said foreign athletic officials had responded with enthusiasm when they were informally sounded out.

He said that with picked fields, each event would be like an Olympic final.

Hull said the stimulus to create a permanent fund was generated by a letter from President Kennedy shortly before his death.

"I urge the AAU to expand its program for the physical development of our youth and adults and to increase our participation in international competition," the letter said, in part. "I urge all men and women in all sports to join in a new crusade for excellence — in physical fitness and sports competition."

American Airlines, the first business firm to participate in the fund drive, contributed $75,000. In addition, the airline will handle the sale of the first 25,000 Kennedy medallions to the public. They will be given to contributors of $10 or more to the fund.

The Kennedy medallion is a bas-relief interpretation of a bronze bust created by Robert Berks, a noted New York sculptor and painter.

One Youth Still Around at Pinehurst

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — There are those who maintain that golf is a young man's game in this age of overpoweringly long courses.

But only one youngster was still around today as semifinal play began in the 67th North and South Men's Amateur.

Leonard Thompson, a 20-year-old Wake Forest College sophomore from nearby Laurinburg, was paired against Bill Campbell, 43-year-old Walker Cup player from Huntington, W. Va.

The other 18-hole semifinal matched 51-year-old Bill Hyndman of Huntingdon Valley, Pa., against 36-year-old Bill Harvey of Greensboro, N.C.

Hyndman can become the oldest champion in the history of the tournament if he wins.

"I missed only one fairway in 35 holes," he said Thursday after a pair of hard-earned victories, each three over par.

He turned back 22-year-old John Baldwin of Port Washington, N.Y., 1-up and then ousted Wayne Jackson of Hampton, Va., 2 and 1.

Harvey, the top Carolinas amateur player of the past few years, laid down the best nine-hole stretch of the tournament Thursday morning en route to a 2 and 1 victory over Dr. Ed Updegraff of Tucson, Ariz., Harvey fired five birdies and was out in 32, four under par over the No. 2 course of the Pinehurst Country Club, swept by winds of 15-25 miles an hour all day.

In the afternoon Harvey lost only one hole in trimming Charlie Harrison of Atlanta 5 and 4. Thompson followed a 4 and 3 victory over Bob Lowry of Huntsville, Ala., with a 1-up squeaker over Bob Murphy.

$7,186 for Pro Players

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors cut up their National Basketball Association winnings of $72,500 into 14 equal shares of $5,178.65 for 12 players, Coach Bill Sharman and trainer Don Watkins.

Each of the champion Philadelphia 76ers received $7,186.66.

Texas School Favored in Penn Relays

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — There's a new rubberized track ready for the annual Penn Relays and four runners from Abilene Christian College in Texas are favored to give it a possible record-setting introduction as the 73rd track and field meet opens today at Franklin Field.

Abilene Christian emerged as the favorite in today's distance medley relay when Ian Hamilton, of defending champion Villanova, became ill. Villanova had been the favorite until Hamilton's illness.

The Villanova quartet has done 9:44 indoors and the Penn Relay record for the event is 9:46.4 Abilene Christian, returning here for the first time since 1962, clocked 9:45 in the Texas Relays.

The runners will be speeding around the $200,000 all-weather track which could enable them to stretch performances to or beyond the record point.

More than 6,000 athletes are slated to participate in the relays. Besides college events, there will be competition for high schools, elementary and junior high schools, and an Olympic development event. A record 141 colleges are participating.

Ryun Regime in Drake Relays to End

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The regime of fabulous Jim Ryun as the world's greatest teen-aged middle-distance runner is destined to end in the two-day 58th Drake Relays which opened with an 11-event finals program today.

Sophomore Ryun of Kansas, world's fastest at one mile and the half-mile, celebrates his 20th birthday Saturday. That's when the Drake carnival which has lured more than 1,100 athletes from 94 colleges and universities winds up with finals in 20 baton and individual events.

As a 19-year-old, the incredible Ryun today was to anchor the Kansas four-mile and two-mile relay quartets. As a 20-year-old Saturday, Ryun will gallop the anchor mile as the Jayhawks shoot for an American distance medley record.

Thus, Ryun, who set a national intercollegiate mile mark of 3:54.7 in the Kansas Relays last week, is leaving the individual Drake spotlight to the likes of Texas A&M's Randy Matson, world shot put record-holder, and Nebraska's sprint ace, Charlie Greene.

Matson was set to launch a bid today to become the first athlete ever to win two events three successive Drake years in defending his discus title.

Matson, who some experts think could be the world's best in the discus if he gave it serious heed, holds the Drake mark of 191-2½. He uncorked a tremendous heave of 213-9 on April 8 in a triangular meet. This was just a shade under the world record of 213-11½ held by Ladvig Danek of Czechoslovakia.

Report From Another Color Test 'Front'

Today — barring last-minute trouble in the pressroom — Hope Star presents its fourth process color picture production . . . on the back page. It is the first of four layouts The Star staff have turned out while working the Berkeley machine entirely on their own. These Hot Springs horse-race pictures were made March 23 and here it is a month later, April 28, before we get them into the newspaper. The delay was not in operating the Berkeley separator. All color separation work — breaking down the original transparency into the three basic colors, blue, red, and yellow, along with black, so that there is a separate negative and press plate for each color — begins with a tedious preliminary operation. It is called the Tri-Mask. You make a black-and-white negative copy of the color transparency, then test this copy in an electronic device known as the Macbeth Densitometer. If the Densitometer O. K.'s the copy then it is aligned (or registered) with the transparency and this "sandwich" is put into the Berkeley machine for the separation procedure. Well, we lost two weeks solving the problem of making a correct Tri-Mask. After that it required only three hours to separate the colors and develop the negatives that the Berkeley machine produced.

We are not alone in the high-adventure of attempting to publish pictures in process color. All over America newspaper pressrooms are battling color problems, although relatively few newspaper organizations are doing what Hope is — making the actual color separations that the pressroom exposes onto press plates.

For the last several weeks I have been in correspondence with the Publishers' Auxiliary, national newspaper of the printing trades which reaches every weekly and daily in the United States and Canada. Elsewhere in today's Star you will find a photo reprint of a picture and article which appeared in the current issue of Publishers' Auxiliary (April 22) — the picture being a black-and-white The Star has already published, of this writer, Mech. Supt. Billy Dan Jones and Gene Allen at our 8x10 Berkeley separator. There's a story behind this article.

Publishers' Auxiliary had planned in its first process color run April 22 to use Hope Star's second 4-color production, "Spring in Arkansas," and I had obliged by sending them our original separation negatives.

But the Publishers' Auxiliary offices are in the National Press Building at Washington, D. C., while the newspaper is printed on a Goss Suburban rotary offset press in the plant of Culpeper (Va.) Star-Exponent. This was a double "first" — the first process color run not only for the Auxiliary but also for the Virginia city's pressroom. So there was a lot of letter-writing and telephoning between Arkansas and the East Coast.

The Culpeper pressroom had trouble and omitted our "Spring in Arkansas" picture from the Auxiliary's April 22nd edition. What I didn't know at the time they requested use of our picture was that they were planning to use not one but two totally unrelated color productions — at present an impossible job. They were already set up to use a color advertising layout from the Montgomery County Sentinel of Rockville, Md., and went to press with splendid results on this — leaving Hope's color picture to run in a later issue.

The problem of running an edition with process color pictures scattered over many pages is something we are working on now. Presently we have to group pictures on a single set of page-size negatives, all on a single page. The negatives are "punched" so they will print as one unit. What we now have to do is install minor equipment which will allow us to punch press plates as well as negatives. Thus when the press registration system is moved all plates on the press will follow it exactly — keeping all pictures, wherever they are in the newspaper, in exact register.

Coppolino Convicted, Gets Life

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — Dr. Carl Coppolino was convicted of second degree murder today in the drug-murder of his wife Carmela.

Coppolino sat expressionless with his head in his hands as the verdict was delivered at 9:25 a.m. after less than four hours of jury deliberation.

Mary Coppolino, the wealthy divorcee he married after Carmela's death, also sat expressionless in a front row seat just behind her husband at the defense table.

Conviction of second degree murder carries a penalty of 20 years to life in prison. Defense attorney F. Lee Bailey moved immediately for a new trial and said if the motion was denied the case would be appealed to the Florida Supreme Court.

After the jury foreman, 46-year-old Harry Miller of Naples, delivered the verdict and it was read by the court clerk, Circuit Judge Lynn Silvertooth sent the spectators out of the small, hot courtroom. Then he delivered sentence of life imprisonment.

The 34-year-old doctor, nattily dressed in a black suit and white shirt, was marched under guard out a side door of the courtroom to a jail cell on the same floor. He was not handcuffed.

Christian Rededication Service Sun.

During the Morning Worship Service at First Christian Church Sunday there will be a special service of rededication to climax the recent remodeling program in the church.

The latest step in the program has been the refinishing of all sanctuary pews as a memorial to John B. Gardner, Sr., given by his family and friends.

The entire service will follow the theme of Reconciliation and Rededication, with anthems "Dedication" and "It Was For Me" by the Choir, and the solo "Bless This House" by David Pearson.

Rev. Johnnie A. Beasley, Pastor will speak on the topic, "Finding God Anew" from 1 Peter 1:1-13. The public is cordially invited to attend this special service, which begins at 10:50 a.m.

Hope Woman Speaks at HD Meet

Mrs. Ernest Graham, Southwest District Director of the State Extension Homemakers Council, was featured speaker at the Saline County Extension Homemakers County meeting at Bauxite, April 24. Mrs. Graham spoke on meeting theme, "Why be an Extension Homemaker?" One hundred and thirty Saline County Homemakers and guests heard discussion. Mrs. Walter Carter, from Hope, attended with Mrs. Graham.

Mrs. Graham is making plans for speaking at the Howard County Extension Homemakers Council meeting planned at Nashville May 5.

As District Director, Mrs. Graham assists seventeen counties coordinating and promoting the plans and objectives of the Extension Homemaker Organization.

Knows How to Hurt a Guy

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — State Sen. Hugh Morrow of Birmingham knows how to hurt a guy.

The Alabama Senate stayed in session into the night Thursday, for the fifth night in a row, because of a filibuster over a proposed new road program. Morrow was one of those doing the filibustering.

The Senate refused to recess for dinner. Then when Morrow arose to speak, he spent his allotted hour reading from a book about food, describing in mouth-watering detail the many goodies it contained.

Estimate on St. Program Authorized

Hope City Directors last night authorized cost estimates for improvement of a number of Hope streets, following a two-hour joint meeting with the City Planning Commission.

The cost estimates call for new paving, curb and gutter installations on streets carrying the major flow of traffic, excluding South Main and Third streets which are maintained by the State Highway Department.

Cost estimates will be prepared by the office of John Hawkins & Associates, Texarkana engineering firm, and are expected to be ready within the next ten days.

Hawkins, formerly of Hope, appeared before the group and pointed to much engineering data that had already been compiled regarding the proposed street improvement program.

The city directors also authorized the services of a bonding company representative to determine the amount of revenue that could become available by levying a five-mill city property tax. This figure has been estimated at $500,000.

Final determination of the proposed street improvement program is expected to come later in a city-wide vote authorizing the bond issue.

Rev. Willhite Will Tour Middle East

The Reverend B. J. Willhite, pastor of the First Assembly of God Church will be leaving Monday, May 1, for a 23 day tour of the Middle East.

Though most of his time will be spent in Lebanon, Syria, Egypt, Jordan, and Israel, he will make stops in West Germany, Greece, Italy, France, and England.

The Reverend Phil Hastie, Associate Pastor, will conduct the services of the church while Mr. Willhite is away.

Pastor Willhite has recorded his "Morning Meditations" broadcast, which is heard over KXAR at 6:25 a.m., Monday through Friday. His listeners will be informed through this from day to day as to where he is on the tour of the Middle East.

General Caught in a Political Crossfire That Threatens Report

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland is caught in a political crossfire that threatens to overshadow his history-making report to Congress on the Vietnam war.

Westmoreland prepared an account of military progress and prospects for a joint meeting of the House and Senate, where members have been arguing for days over the propriety of his appearance.

The four-star Army general is the first U.S. commander in history to address Congress while running a war.

After his speech, Westmoreland was due to drive to the White House for a luncheon session to brief state governors, key congressional leaders and Cabinet officers.

In advance of the joint session, sources said the general would not renew his criticism of antiwar protests.

"He made his point," said an aide of Westmoreland.

This was a reference to Westmoreland's statement to the Associated Press annual meeting Monday that the Communist enemy misreads antiwar protests as indicating popular opposition to the U.S. effort in Vietnam.

Such protests encourage the Communists to continue their aggression and this will cost American, South Vietnamese and allied lives, the general warned.

Westmoreland's remarks brought charges that President Johnson was using Westmoreland to stifle criticism of administration policies.

Westmoreland's appearance before Congress comes at a time when the United States is escalating the air war against North Vietnam and the administration appears bent on increasing the military pressure on the Communists.

The Vietnam commander conferred with Johnson, top State and Defense Department officials and members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff Thursday.

There was no disclosure of the trend of the talks, but Westmoreland was believed to have presented his case for more troops beyond the 470,000-man level now planned for the end of this year.

Aides said Westmoreland would return to Vietnam either today or Saturday.

Daylight Saving Time Sunday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Forty-five states will go on Daylight Saving Time Sunday.

The clocks will be put ahead one hour in these states where 180 million of the nation's estimated 198 million residents live. Congress enacted a law directing all states — except those in which legislatures vote exemption — to observe Daylight Saving Time from 2 a.m. the last Sunday in April until 2 a.m. the last Sunday in October.

An Associated Press survey showed today which states are not going along with the majority, and why.

Hawaii's legislators voted exemption, but a petition drive was started to put the question before the voters.

The federal government exempted Alaska from compliance with the Uniform Time Act this year to allow time to delineate the four time zones in the state.

Dodd Censure to Senate in 10 Days

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders indicated today the resolution to censure Sen. Thomas J. Dodd will be taken up in about 10 days. Dodd vowed to fight it and, whatever the outcome, to run for a third term in 1970.

The Senate's bipartisan Ethics Committee unanimously recommended Thursday after a 14-month investigation that the white-haired Connecticut Democrat be censured for financial misconduct.

None of Dodd's colleagues spoke out immediately in his defense, but he was quick to reassert he had done nothing wrong and said he would make a detailed reply to the committee's findings.

Declares War AP News Digest

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland told Congress today the only strategy that can defeat the Communist enemy in Vietnam "is one of unrelenting military, political and psychological pressure on his whole structure — at all levels."

This appeared a call for increased escalation, possibly including broadened bombing of North Vietnam and commitment of more U.S. troops to battle Communist forces in South Vietnam.

In an unprecedented personal report to Congress by a war commander, Westmoreland described U.S. forces as "unbeatable" and said they have been successful in destroying Communist main force units.

He said, "I can assure you here and now" that the Communist stratagem called "war of national liberation" will not succeed in Vietnam.

But while speaking of a "hopeful state of affairs," the U.S. commander in Vietnam sought to dispel any idea that the Communists are near collapse.

His remarks were in a prepared speech. Later he was to brief governors, congressional leaders and Cabinet members at a White House luncheon.

In considerable detail, Westmoreland pictured for a joint meeting of House and Senate an enemy who has doubled his strength despite heavy battle losses, whose commanders are skilled professionals, whose troops are well trained, whose primitive supply system is surprisingly effective.

"I foresee that he will continue his buildup across the demilitarized zone and through Laos, and he will attack us when he believes he has a chance for a dramatic blow," the general predicted.

"I expect the enemy to continue to increase his mortar, artillery, rocket and recoilless rifle attacks on our installations. At the same time he will step up his attacks on hamlet, village and district organizations to intimidate the people and to thwart the democratic processes now under way in South Vietnam."

Westmoreland did not repeat his charge — made at The Associated Press annual meeting in New York Monday — that antiwar protests in the United States are encouraging the Communists to fight on, and that this will cost the lives of American and allied soldiers.

The closest the four-star general came to this was to recall that "As I have said before, in evaluating the enemy strategy it is evident to me that he believes our Achilles' heel is our resolve."

Two Houses Not Needed, Group Told

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Legislative Committee of the Constitutional Revision Study Commission has heard arguments for and against a proposal that Arkansas go to the unicameral legislative system.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller and former Govs. Orval Faubus, Sid McMath and Ben T. Laney were invited to appear this afternoon before the commission's Executive Branch Committee to discuss needs for changes in constitutional powers and functions of the executive branch.

Rockefeller was scheduled to testify at 4:30 p.m. Thursday Rep. Charles Matthews of North Little Rock told the committee there was no longer justification for two houses in the state legislature.

He urged the adoption of a unicameral system, saying that one house would be more responsible and responsive to the people.

Matthews said that "we should streamline our legislative branch and realistically attract to its service the best of those among us."

House Ethics Committee in Business

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — With an ex-GI and former sports writer as its chairman, the bipartisan House Ethics Committee is now in business after years of clamor for its creation.

Adam Clayton Powell, whose activities were a major force that led to creation of the committee, lost a bid Thursday for a quick U.S. Court of Appeals decision on the constitutionality of the House vote that denied Powell his seat in Congress.

An Illinois Democrat, Melvin Price, 67, was chosen Thursday to head the group of six Democrats and six Republicans on the Committee on Standards of Official Conduct of House Members, Officials and Employees.

The Democratic Committee on Committees and the Republican Leadership Committee each chose its party's members.

All selections are subject to formal approval by the House Monday.

The committee's initial assignment is recommending for House approval a code of ethics and ways to enforce it.

Serving with Price will be Democrat's Olin E. Teague of Texas, Joe L. Evans of Tennessee, Watkins M. Abbott of Virginia, Wayne Aspinall of Colorado and Edna Kelly of New York, and Republicans Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, Leslie C. Arends of Illinois, Jackson E. Bitts of Ohio, Robert T. Stafford of Vermont, James H. Quinn of Tennessee and Lawrence G. Williams of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Kelly is the junior Democrat even with 18 years of service. Halleck is a former Republican floor leader. Arends is GOP whip. Stafford is an ex-governor and Williams is the only freshman.

Other than to say he would not lead "a witch hunt," Price had little comment on the appointment which he said he did not seek but which apparently pleased most of his colleagues in both parties.

He said he hoped to come up with rules of conduct "which will preserve and enhance the reputation and integrity of the House."

Price once was sports editor of the former East St. Louis News-Review.

He is an ardent St. Louis Cardinals rooster.

Price was elected to the House Nov. 7, 1944, while serving as an enlisted man in the Army.

Powell was denied his seat and since has won re-election. But he has not again appeared at the Capitol to seek his seat.

Heaviest Shelling of War by Reds

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces in South Vietnam's embattled northern sector poured artillery, mortar and rocket fire on U.S. and Vietnamese government troops overnight in some of the heaviest enemy shelling of the war.

The U.S. command said 12 American Marines were killed and 180 Marines and seven Army artillerymen were wounded in four attacks. South Vietnamese spokesmen termed their casualties light.

No enemy casualties were reported.

Heavy clouds moved back over much of North Vietnam, limiting air attacks on the North Thursday to 48 missions. All of them were made against targets in the panhandle at the southern end of North Vietnam, sparing the Hanoi-Haiphong area after three days of heavy pounding.

While fighting flared in the northernmost 1st Corps area, the Viet Cong announced they would observe a 48-hour truce from 7 a.m. May 22 to 7 a.m. May 24 (Saigon time) to mark Buddha's birthday. The Saigon government had said earlier it would cease fire for 24 hours on May 23.

There was no immediate indication whether the South Vietnamese and their allies would agree to the longer cease-fire period.

Despite the lull in the air war, the assault on North Vietnam cost the United States another plane today. An Air Force F4C jet bomber caught fire and exploded as it was rolling down the runway for a bombing mission from Ubon airbase in northeast Thailand. The U.S. Embassy in Bangkok said the plane's two crewmen escaped unhurt but a ground crewman was seriously injured.

The blistering barrages just south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam came after weeks of increasing U.S. concern over Communist moves in the five provinces that make up South Vietnam's 1st Corps area.

South Vietnamese military headquarters reported that one of the attacks on Gio Linh, an allied artillery base one mile south of the DMZ, consisted of 1,100 rounds of 105mm howitzer fire. U.S. spokesmen said an estimated 250 rounds of artillery fire were directed at U.S. positions there plus uncounted rounds of mortar fire.

In the past the Communists have used artillery sparingly, and the rain of shells laid down Thursday night aroused speculation that the enemy had strengthened its resources of heavy guns and ammunition.

Other attacks were made at Dong Ha, a U.S. Marine forward position 10 miles south of the buffer zone; at Con Thien, near Gio Linh, and at the U.S. Marine base at Phu Bai, to the south in Thua Thien Province.

Conservatives Post Victory

BRIERLY HILL, England (AP) — Britain's opposition Conservative party has won another special parliamentary election by a vastly increased margin and its victorious candidate today predicted trouble for the Labor government.

Voters in this Staffordshire industrial district gave 31,371 votes to Conservative Fergus Montgomery, a margin of 10,220 over his Labor opponent Derek Fordwood. The special election was called to fill a House of Commons seat which the Conservatives won in March 1966 by only 1,567 votes. The winner later died.
